Canadian businesses not inclined to use offshore outsourcing

written by Manoj Khanna | June 23, 2004

In a recent story – Canadian businesses are not immediately thinking of offshore outsourcing for IT enabled services. Part of the reason is political scenario with in Canada as well as in its neighborhood country US, and part of the reason is that the normal business process is not that overwhelming in the economy right now; and, couple of sectors of the industry are expecting a decrease in the demand for outsourcing.

Read the full story here.

© Manoj Khanna/Open Source World/rapidblog.com 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009

Powered by Dextrus Prosoft, Inc.