Too busy to post anything!

I've been pre-occupied with lot of work lately. And understanding the logic of first things first, I'm putting my blogging desires for RapidBlog.com on hold for now as I am concentrating on completing my upcoming book. And besides this, I am also involved with my on-going work project that takes up another half of my time. Sometimes I wish, I had 48 hours in a day, but its a wishful thinking.

I might be blogging on bits and pieces at my book blog for now and will return here after I finish my book project. Ciao!
